Jerusalem Center Media Report
2021
Over 400 Jerusalem Center Media Hits in Print, Television, and Radio
Introduction

It is a pleasure to present this Jerusalem Center Media Report. The report represents a compilation of close to every mention of the Jerusalem Center for Public Affairs and of its experts in Israeli and international media – print, television and radio – in the past year.

You will find here more than 400 entries, averaging over one media mention of the Jerusalem Center each day.

Not included are podcasts, lectures, and webcasts delivered in conjunction with private organizations; or news aggregates which carry Jerusalem Center items from our website on a regular basis (such as JNS, Mosaic, Israel Hayom [English], Algemeiner, Canadian Institute for Jewish Research [CIJR]) – nor is this listing exhaustive.

Entries appear in roughly reverse-chronological order on the following pages:

The Jerusalem Center ................................................................. 2
Amb. Dr. Dore Gold ................................................................. 4
Brig.-Gen. (res.) Yossi Kuperwasser........................................... 43
Brig.-Gen. (ret.) Dr. Shimon Shapira ........................................... 85

Israel is already an irrational fixation of the U.N., which issued 17 resolutions condemning it in 2020. But the funding stream approved at the General Assembly Thursday further institutionalizes the anti-Israel libel machine. The Jerusalem Center for Public Affairs notes that the new commission will have 24 permanent staff, compared to 20 permanent staff for the Human Rights Council branch covering all of Asia. With an annual budget greater than $5 million, it will fund “790 days of travel for experts and staff every year from 2022 on.”

Dore Gold, a Netanyahu confidant and former U.N. ambassador in the audience, implied Prince Faisal's remarks were "accusations of the past — many of which are false." The prince later brought up Gold's previous television appearances "denigrating the kingdom and using the most vile descriptions."

"I think Mr. Dore Gold should be the last one to talk about having previous beliefs and positions here," the prince said.

CNN’s Fareed Zakaria Issues On-Air Apology to JCPA Head Dore Gold for Erroneous Report

JNS.org – Fareed Zakaria, the anchor of CNN’s popular “GPS” international news show, apologized to Jerusalem Center for Public Affairs President Dore Gold for an erroneous report in his show.

On July 25, during an interview with King Abdullah of Jordan, Zakaria claimed that Gold, former director-general of the Israeli Foreign Ministry and former Israeli ambassador to the United Nations, said “Jordan needs to start thinking of itself as the Palestinian state. In other words, there is a two-state solution. The Palestinian state is Jordan.”

Zakaria also tweeted the alleged statement on his personal account, which was cited widely in the Jordanian press.

Gold set the record straight immediately, tweeting, “Zakaria is reporting fake news. I never said these things. If Zakaria had read my articles published in Israel about the importance of the Hashemite Kingdom to Israel, he would understand that I also view the stability of the Hashemite Kingdom as an anchoring element for Israel and the entire region.”

“When people similar sentiments in the Middle East work together and expose what they are doing across our region and suggest a different path, we can actually win that war of ideas,” said Amb. Dore Gold, President of the JCPA.

If Palestinians have no hope of a capital in East Jerusalem, Israelis will have little hope of normality.

By Anchal Vohra, a columnist for Foreign Policy and a freelance TV correspondent and commentator on the Middle East based in Beirut.

Israeli ambassador Dore Gold, who is president of the Jerusalem Center for Public Affairs and served as Israel’s ambassador to the United Nations as well as director-general of Israel’s Ministry of Foreign Affairs, told Foreign Policy Hamas’s onslaught on civilian areas has created “a strong Israeli consensus for a full-scale war for the purpose of disarming them.”

The former Director-General of the Israeli Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Dore Gold, has declared that Iran’s attempts to increase its influence in North Africa was one of the reasons that led the US to recognize Moroccan sovereignty over Western Sahara.

Gold, who also served as Israel’s ambassador to the UN between 2007 and 1999, shared his analysis of the American decision in an article published by Israel Hayom on Monday, January 18.

Saudi Arabia is no longer a kingdom of hate

Dore Gold | October 14, 2021

Image: KhaledSaad001 via Shutterstock

Fast forward to 2021. How much Saudi money is now going to Hamas? The answer is Zero. In fact, Saudi Arabia is not giving a dime to any of the terrorist organisations. Today the main countries funding Hamas are the Islamic Republic of Iran and Qatar. Moreover, this year a Saudi Court sentenced 69 Hamas members to prison terms up to 22 years. Something had seriously changed.

This is not about geo-politics alone. Historically, Jews and Muslims have been cousins who surmounted their differences and reached a common language that brought us together. In the Middle Ages, Jewish religious scholars like Maimonides and Yehuda Halevi wrote in Judeo-Arabic—which was written in Arabic with Hebrew letters.

March 13, 2021 | Israel stands by Palestinian NGOs' terror designation despite international criticism

Israel Hayom

In contrast to Tzoreff’s opinion that Israel should have perhaps taken a different route, Yossi Kuperwasser, a senior project director at the Jerusalem Center for Public Affairs, told JNS designating these organizations “was the right thing to do” since they serve as fronts for the PFLP.

“Many of their operatives are PFLP members,” he emphasized.

“I don’t think Israel is interested in hitting each and every target belonging to Iranian-led forces. It’s not the issue. We are trying to hit targets with a strategic impact,” said Brigadier General Yossi Kuperwasser, a former director general of Israel’s strategic affairs ministry and ex-head of the research wing of Israeli military intelligence.

“We want to prevent Iran turning Syria into a Iranian base close to Israel that may bring a drastic strategic change in the situation...That’s why we keep pounding Iranian bases so they don’t take control of the country,” Kuperwasser told Reuters.

“It’s not a win-lose situation between us and Hamas,” said retired Brig. Gen. Yossi Kuperwasser, the former head of analysis at Israel’s military intelligence agency. “On the military battleground, they were defeated. But on the political level, Hamas doesn’t fight Israel—it fights Abu Mazen and the moderates in the Arab world. And there, they have succeeded regardless of what has happened on the military battleground.”

“In principle, every round of conflict is a learning tool. Ultimately, what we see during conflicts is the result of a learning competition between the two sides,” Brig. Gen. (ret.) Yossi Kuperwasser, former head of the research division in the IDF Military Intelligence Directorate, told the Investigative Project on Terrorism.

Israel’s Attacks on Iran Are Not Working

The recent sabotage of the Iranian nuclear program has been spectacular—and strategically incoherent.

Col. (ret.) Dr. Jacques Neriah, a special analyst for the Middle East at the Jerusalem Center for Public Affairs, was formerly Foreign Policy Adviser to Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and Deputy Head for Assessment of Israeli Military Intelligence.

The battle for Lebanon’s Arab identity

Saudi Arabia and the Gulf states have caught Hezbollah and its Iranian patron by surprise, on an unexpected battlefield.

Quo Vadis, Lebanon?

Even within the country’s current disastrous environment, the eruption of a new civil war is still considered a catastrophic scenario by all Lebanese factions.
